

Two Boys Admit 11 Area Burglaries

Questioned by Officers at New Albany, Miss.

Two Harrisburg Boys Are Slated for Federal Reformatory

City and county law-enforcement officers today had solved eleven area burglaries following the questioning of two Harrisburg boys held at New Albany, Miss.

Questioned by Sheriff William T. Barrett and Chief of Police Ross Lane, who returned late yesterday from Mississippi, were George Goolsby, 16, and Calvin Miller, 13, who were held at New Albany and who are slated to be sent to a federal reformatory from Mississippi on the federal charge of interstate car theft. Reports are that the boys can be held in the reformatory until they reach 21 years of age.

Not included in the list of local burglaries is the theft of the 1954 Oldsmobile from the Absher Motor Co. at Marion in December. They also stole the title to the automobile at the same time.

List of Admitted Burglaries

This is the list admitted:

1. Cities Service Station restaurant on Route 45, where between $10 and $15 was taken.

2. Brownies' Army store, where they said they took 55 cents and some merchandise.

3. Harrisburg Township high school, which they left without taking anything when they spotted the night watchman.

4. Logan school, where a quantity of money was taken.

5. Junior high school, where they got two saws and 50 cents.

6. Horace Mann school, which Miller said he entered by himself on two occasions, once scattering and burning papers inside the building.

7. McKinley school, where nothing was reported missing.

8. The Vaughn and Cullum service station at Routes 45 and 34, where merchandise was stolen.

9. Gill's store at Herod.

10. Little Egypt cafe in Harrisburg, where $50 was stolen.

11. An unidentified wooden school building in or near Eldorado, where they entered but didn't take anything. Their description of this place was vague.

Their arrest was the result of day and night work by the combined efforts of the county sheriff's department and Harrisburg police department. In fact, the

Aly Wassil, Authority on Far East, To Address Dinner Club Saturday

One of America's most fluently speaking visitors from the Far East, and advocate of world understanding, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club Saturday, Jan. 11, at the Kurto Country Club.

The speaker will be Aly Wassil, bearded Pakistani, frequently called "man of the orient" who studied yoga and philosophy under the great teachers of the East; attended Nizam College, Muslim University, Osmania University (India); and after coming to the United States attended Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the University of California at Los Angeles.

Winner of a score of literary, scholastic and oratorical honors, Wassil was conference Director of the Model United Nations, is a holder of the Phi Kappa Delta Key and was presented the Great Seal of the State of California by its secretary of State for "contribution to a better understanding between East and West."

"The traditions, culture, religions and philosophies of the East, and the practical civilization of the West are reconcilable," insists Wassil of Pakistan. "The time will come when these two great estranged peoples of different hemispheres will have mutual understanding. Then their appreciation of one another will help bring world peace to the people of all nations, creeds and races."

Dr. William F. Johnson of Eldorado, new president of the Dinner Club, will preside at the meeting. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Zola Sloan, new club secretary. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m.

It was held under the auspices of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America in cooperation with the National Council of Churches and the churches of the Washington area.

Search for Nine Persons Missing In Three Boats

MIAMI (AP) — The Coast Guard intensified a search today for nine persons aboard three boats missing for five days off the stormy southeast Florida coast. One of the vessels is the racing yawl, Revonoc, of wealthy New York publisher-sportsman Harvey Conover.

He and four others were on it.

A 12-foot dinghy, named Revonoc Jr., was found drifting off the beach at Jupiter Inlet, 80 miles north of Miami, Monday night. The Coast Guard sent two planes and a helicopter at dawn today to scour the area.

No trace has been found of two other missing craft, 55-foot fishing boats that were en route from St. Augustine, Fla., to Key West. Each had two crewmen.

Those aboard the 45-foot Revonoc in addition to Conover, 65, were his wife, Dorothy, about 60; his son, Lawrence, 27; Lawrence's wife, Laury, about 25; and William Flugelman Jr., 29, a family friend.

The two-masted yacht left Key West Thursday morning after letting off Mrs. William Flugelman of Scarsdale, N. Y., who had become ill on a Caribbean cruise. It then headed northward toward Miami into the teeth of a gale that turned into the worst winter storm in southeast Florida history.

Congress Convenes; Will Face Issues of Space Age

Eisenhower Briefs House, Senate Leaders

President Will Present Program to Congress Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second session of the 85th Congress plunged headfirst today into the greatest issue before it — survival of America in the age of space.

Before the new session convened at 11 a. m., c. s. t. President Eisenhower briefed House and Senate Republican leaders on the program he will present to Congress Thursday for combating "Communism imperialism."

At about the same time, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson sounded a warning that the nation which controls space will exercise "total control over the earth."

The President began his official day by attending special prayer service for the new session of Congress. Then for two hours he went over with his legislative leaders his forthcoming State of the Union and budget messages.

Will Meet Challenges

The President was quoted as forecasting that 1958 will be a better year economically for America than 1957 was.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said after the White House conference that the State of the Union message will be a statement of "the position of the United States today and how to meet the threat of Communist imperialism."

Knowland gave this impression of the programs to be presented to Congress:

"I believe that the recommendations being made by the President of the United States will meet the challenges that confront us in the world today."

Johnson's warning was made at a meeting of Senate Democrats for whom he reviewed testimony to date before the preparedness subcommittee's investigation of U. S. satellite and missile programs.

No Major Business Today

He said the United States must win space control "for the service of freedom." If the Russians win the space race, they will exploit it "for the purposes of tyranny," Johnson said.

The new session scheduled no major business for its first day. A number of committee investigations already were rolling or projected. Several bills were introduced.

Gavin Says Still '50-50 Chance' He Will Not Quit Army Research Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin said today there is still a "50-50 chance" he won't quit his job of leading the Army's fight to match Russia's missile might.

At the same time the outspoken three-star general stepped up his public attack in the Army's behalf — calling for money to increase weapons research and nearly double Army manpower to 28 divisions.

Gavin expressed his views in an interview after he was reported to have told Senate investigators Monday he decided to retire after being informed he was "no longer being considered for promotion... to a more responsible position."

Wants Gavin to Remain

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker issued a statement saying he wants Gavin to remain on as chief of Army research and development. He said Gavin "has a brilliant future in the Army and is certainly four-star material."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee before which Gavin appeared, warned today against "even a hint of reprisal" against military men who oppose administration policies before Congress. He said Gavin's treatment "certainly will make others hesitant to speak frankly and candidly."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a subcommittee member, said Congress must protect officers "who speak sincerely and openly." He urged Brucker to refuse to retire Gavin and give him "the promotion he deserves."

Another officer, Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, told the inquiry that lagging research programs and a lack of a sense of urgency among top officials have left him "very much worried that it is almost too late to match the achievements of the Soviet Union."

Rickover, assistant chief of the Navy's Bureau for Nuclear Propulsion and "father" of the atomic submarine, said he recommended a missile-submarine program two years ago but was turned down by "Navy submarine officers."

In a related development, key congressmen forecast defeat for proposals to create a single military chief of staff. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said if such a bill gets to his committee "it won't get out." Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the parallel Senate committee also has opposed the idea. Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said Monday such a play would "lay the foundation for disaster."

Gavin, while he did not call for a single chief, startled officials Washington in an appearance before Johnson's group last month by urging scrapping of the present joint chiefs setup in favor of a general staff or senior military officers.

Navy Bomber Demolishes House; 4 of Crew Killed, 12 Injured

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A big Navy patrol bomber lost power above a beach resort area Monday and dropped "smack in the middle" of a two-story house. Four of its 12 crewmen were killed and 12 persons were injured.

The plane demolished the house, and two other houses were destroyed by fire that broke out immediately and flared up again later when the plane's fuel caused a minor explosion.

The Navy would say only that four crewmen were missing, but witnesses saw one body removed from the wreckage and firemen were hacking into the wreckage for three more they said were still in the plane.

The other eight crewmen escaped with injuries. Four civilians in the area also were hurt.

The Navy said two of the crewmen were seriously injured, the others only slightly. The four civilians were hit by flying wreckage and were not badly hurt.

The plane, a P4M-1 Martin Marcatore equipped with two piston-type engines and two jet auxiliaries, was making a low-level landing approach when one of the two main engines lost power. The pilot, Cmdr. Clyde Curley, 41, said he was unable to start the jets and could not maintain enough speed to reach the beach, only a block from the scene.

The plane skimmed low over a cluster of cottages, ripping shingles and roofing from some before smashing into the house. A witness said the only occupant of the house, a woman, ran out of danger before the plane hit.

Nick Copeland, who saw the crash, said he heard the plane coming in "unusually low."

"I thought he was trying to make a landing on the beach," Copeland said. "It looked like his wheels were down. It seemed like one engine was revved up more than the others, pulling it aside. I took off running because I knew he wouldn't make it."

Report Man-Rocket Fired

By United Press

Reports persisted in Moscow today the Soviets had fired a manned rocket 186 miles into space, but there still was no official confirmation from the Kremlin. World scientists viewed the rumors with reserve and said "remarkable if true."

The rumors circulating in Western diplomatic quarters in the Soviet capital said the man aboard the rocket missile parachuted back to earth from the 186-mile altitude. There was no hint whether he survived.

Our Double Standard

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

American parents won't particularly like it that Vice President Nixon has tossed a lot of the blame on them for this country's lag in education.

Of course, Nixon isn't the first to place the responsibility in that quarter, and he probably won't be the last.

Quite a few seasoned observers of American life believe that we, both as parents and as citizens, live by a kind of double standard.

In our private existence we want the best, especially in a material way: powerful, flashy automobiles, 21 or 27-inch television sets, dishwashers, deep freezers, well-appointed modern houses, plenty of everything for the kids, exciting vacation trips, and so on.

In our public affairs, it is a different story.

Great argument runs through the land on the issue of federal aid to education. Yet this much should be plain. The question would hardly have arisen at all if everywhere there were enough schools well equipped and featuring well-trained teachers.

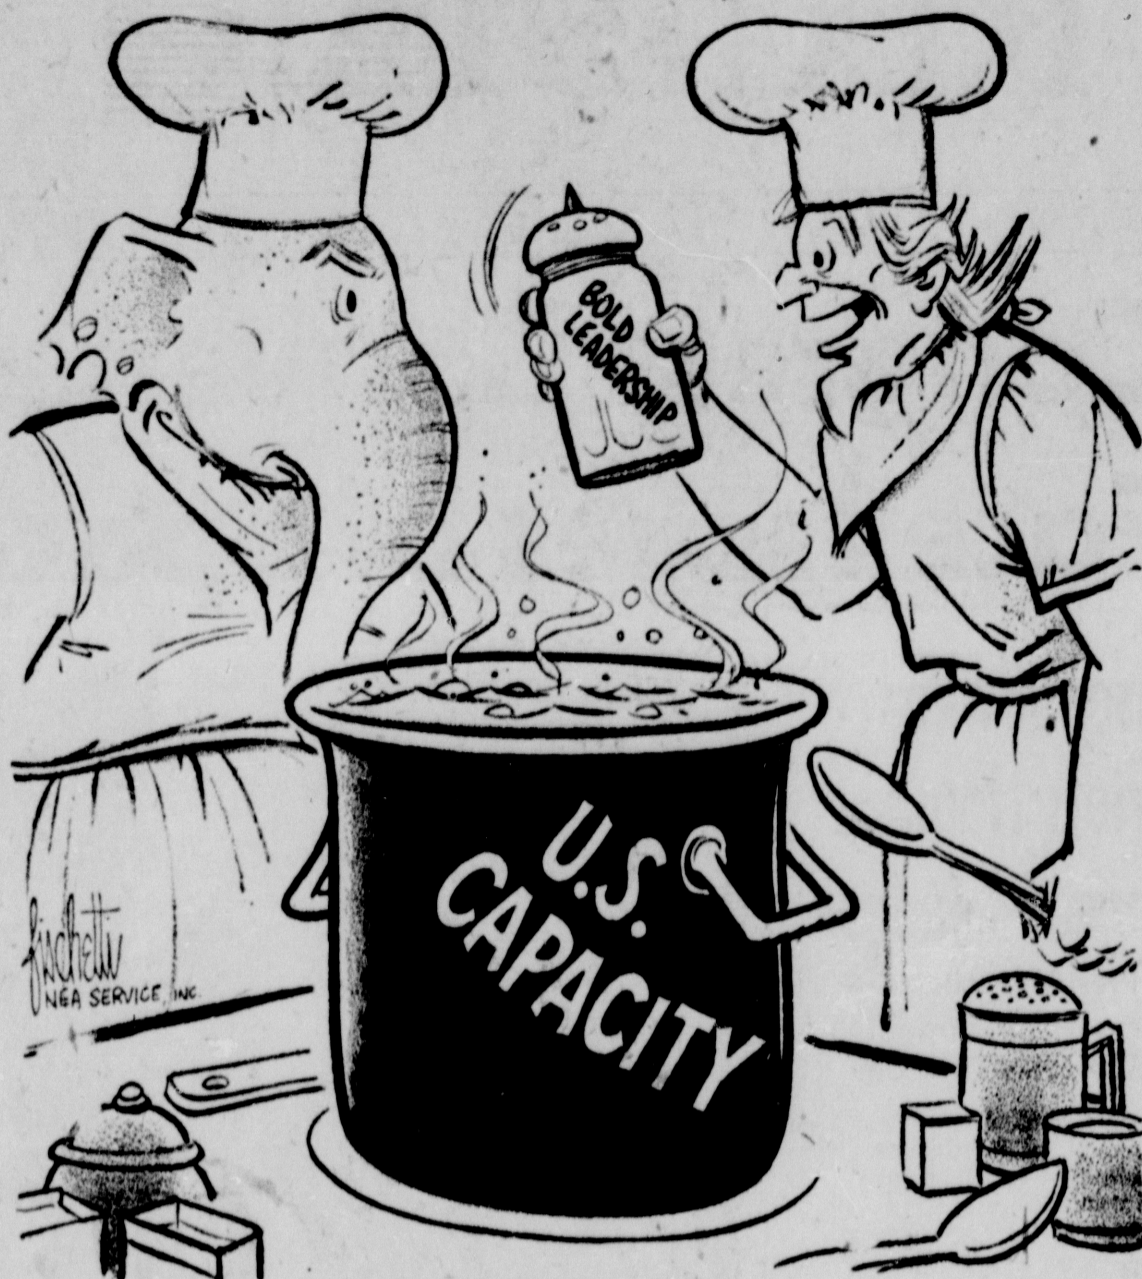

How many Americans in the last decade or more have driven to their polling places in new cars, there to cast decisive ballots against bond issues for new schools?

How many have voted "no" on such an issue and gone on a shopping tour to pick up a shiny new stove or refrigerator?

Hospitals and welfare institutions have suffered similarly. Some pretty sad chapters have been written about the general caliber of service available to many ill, destitute and otherwise distressed Americans. Much of the fault, say those who have analyzed these institutions, lies with inadequate equipment and badly trained and paid personnel.

This doesn't mean we don't have many fine school plants, hospitals and other institutions. We do, of course. But we don't have enough altogether, and

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:

American H-Bombs Are In Two Parts To Prevent Accidental Explosion; Ike Insists On Delivering Message To Congress In Person; Democrats Will Take Initiative In Congress.

WASHINGTON. — I was wrong if I implied in my columns from North Africa that ready-to-be-dropped hydrogen bombs are constantly in the air in U. S. planes. Hydrogen bombs are in the air and on the runways in planes ready to take off, but they are not ready to be dropped. They are in two parts so there can be no danger of a premature explosion.

The two parts are kept in separate sections of the plane, and the H-Bomb will not explode unless the two parts are put together, or as they say in the Air Force, "married."

The two parts of the bomb are the bomb casing and the pill, containing the hydrogen explosive. A member of the crew is trained in putting the bomb together, and on training flights he goes through this routine.

However, this practice "marrying" of the bomb takes place only when the plane is over the ocean or desert areas where no civilian lives would be lost in case of an accidental explosion.

It's not a happy state of affairs for H-bombs to be aloft, even in two parts. But such careful precautions are taken that no accidental explosion is likely.

some we have are far below standard.

In this rich, resourceful country we could have them if we really wished it. If you are an average American, you don't have to doubt this. Just turn the key in your front door, step in and look around. Nothing much sub-standard there.

volt to be repeated in Guatemala before its January 19 election. The Communists intend to strike before American-supported Cruz Salazar can be elected. Of the Guatemalan army's 600 officers, it's reported that 200 are Reds.

President Eisenhower has told aides he is determined to deliver his State of the Union address to Congress in person. He brushed aside the suggestion that he simply send his message to Capitol Hill and let it be read for him. He wants to make it clear to both Congress and the public that he is at the helm.

If ex-Sen. Tom Burke of Ohio spent less time at the Cleveland Athletic Club, he would have a better chance of running for governor of Ohio. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks has blocked an attempt by Russia and Czechoslovakia to buy $1,000,000 of American radiation detection instruments; also American prospecting equipment. Apparently Russia wanted the equipment to prospect for uranium.

DEMOCRATS' FIRST CAUCUS

Texas' persuasive Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who usually runs the Democratic majority by personal huddle and telephone, today has called his first Democratic caucus in two years.

Before calling it, he carefully phoned Republican Leaders Bill Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire to explain that he was calling the caucus largely to educate Democratic senators, not to make a political issue. He suggested they call a similar caucus to educate Republican senators.

At the Democratic caucus, however, such additional questions as defense spending, foreign policy, foreign aid are certain to come up. The usual plan for an opposition party is to wait for the party in power to propose a legislative program. In the present congress, however, Democratic leaders, including Johnson, may not wait for Eisenhower.

If he comes up with some positive leadership on national defense and foreign affairs, they will support it. But in case of continuing vacuum in the White House, they plan to propose a positive Democratic program on everything from missiles to agriculture.

This program, according to present backstage huddles, will include more money for defense, Voice of America, economic aid, pay raises of around 5 per cent for the military; public housing; and a repeal of the Benson farm program, including both his soil bank and his lower price supports.

There will be no lowered taxes. Any moves to pay for missiles at the expense of school lunches and veterans hospitals will be defeated.

SLUM CLEARANCE Missiles won't be the only problem in the current congress. Right off the bat, a House committee on public housing will begin work on a half-billion-dollar long range plan for slum clearance and suburban relocation.

This was frowned upon last summer, even castigated publicly by President Eisenhower. However, last month he released the $177,000,000 for public housing which last summer he had criticized, seemed glad to use the money to help offset the building slump and the business recession.

This year Sen. Paul Douglas and Rep. Albert Rains, both Illinois Democrats, plan to push for a minimum of half a billion over 10 years to help cities clear slums and relocate tenement families.

Witnesses for public housing will be Gov. George Leader of Pennsylvania, Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Mayor Anthony Celebrezze of Cleveland, Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles, who turned that city's big public housing project over to the Brooklyn Dodgers for a ball park, will not be a witness. Los Angeles is holding a referendum June 3 to decide whether to OK the mayor's baseball plans.

MISSILE-LANEY

Russia has developed a manned rocket which takes off vertically and shoots straight up at supersonic speeds. It will be used as an interceptor to knock down jet bombers. This country also has built a vertical-takeoff plane, but it is propeller-driven and travels at slow, subsonic speeds. Soviet scientists are urgently experimenting with means of bringing satellites, the size of Sputnik II, safely back to earth. Once the problem is solved, they will send up men instead of dogs.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

God has helped all human beings in myriad ways. Some of His help is taken for granted. Much of His aid is in answer to man's supplication in his prayers.

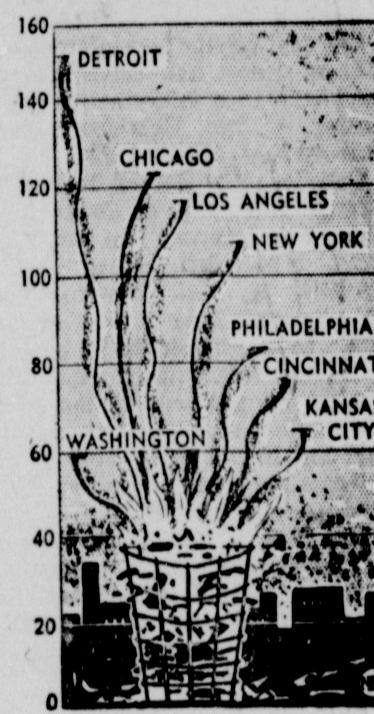

With all the help we receive from our Father we are so sparing with our thanks and with our giving of credit to God. After pleading with God for some great desire, men forget all about the Giver as soon as the gift is received.

Many people even try to make deals with their Heavenly Father. "If you will do this for me, I shall do that for you," they pray. As soon as God's side of the bargain is kept, many bargainers forget their promises. They do not even express their thanks.

The appreciation portion of our prayers is important. Let us remember what the Psalmist prayed, "Because thou hast been my help I will rejoice." We must show our thanks through our prayers and actions.

Founded Damascus

Legend says that Damascus, capital of Syria, was founded by Noah's grandson a few years after the great flood. Damascus now is called Esh Sham.

"WHAT GOES UP" — The dirt rising from an incinerator and other causes must come down. A national organization's survey on polluted air shows (see Newschart) how many tons of "particulate matter" — dirt — there is in each cubic mile of atmosphere over many U. S. cities. Minneapolis was found to be the cleanest sizable city with only 53 tons. Housewives, the survey revealed, add great amounts of dirt to the air just shaking dustmops. A back yard incinerator, it added, is worse than a blast furnace in raising more dirt per ton burned.

Old Melded to New In Home Furnishings

CHICAGO (AP)—The old is melded to the new in the latest home furnishings lines.

The home fashion trend for 1958—if there is a trend—is a more pronounced blend of the functional elements of modern contemporary with the warmth, romance and nostalgia of the traditional, industry spokesmen said today.

The "melded-style" collections were apparent everywhere as the International Home Furnishings Market opened Monday in the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart.

More than 25,000 dealers began selecting the furniture that will appear within a few months in showrooms across the country. The market, closed to the public, runs through Jan. 17.

Many manufacturers showed collections of contemporary pieces in which old world influences were used to add elegance and romantic charm.

The Geometric, nail-studded doors on a low cabinet reflected the Moorish influence in 16th Century Spanish furniture; the graceful wood turnings of a Portuguese doorway inspired the footboard of one bed; the Italian Renaissance showed in another softly shaped panel bed; and panel work of the Dutch Renaissance was incorporated in the moulded drawers of dressers and chests.

As the "sterile modern" has been modified by an aura of modern influence in their lines.

Miss Erna Lea Turner Weds State Rep. C. L. McCormick

Miss Erna Lea Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turner, Cypress, and State Representative C. L. McCormick of Vienna were married in the Baptist parsonage in Vienna at 5:30 o'clock on Jan. 1. The Rev. R. F. Richardson performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of Mrs. Albritton, a close friend, and Howard Lay McCormick, brother of the bridegroom, acting as attendants.

The bride wore a two-piece blue wool knit dress with a small blue hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Albritton wore a wool dress, gold in color with matching hat and black accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Representative and Mrs. McCormick will make their home in Vienna.

The youngsters, special guests of the Army on a visit to the military post, are, left to right: Daniel Quenzer, 8; George Diebold, 9; Eddie Miller, 10; Jimmie Biglin, 7; and John Sjursen, 9. The visit came about when Eddie, wearing the uniform of a Maj. Gen., wrote to the general saying he was the only one in his "paltoon" who had no helmet and could the Army sell him one for 35 cents. The Army gave him a brand new one, which he wears here.

Democratic State Central Committee Turns Down Pleas for 'Open Primary'

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Democratic State Central Committee has voted down pleas for an "open" primary this April and will endorse candidates for state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction.

The action was taken by 19 of the committee's 25 members present at a meeting here Friday.

After turning thumbs down on the open primary idea, downstate committee members immediately indicated privately that Cook County Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman, for state treasurer, and Madison County School Supt. George T. Wilkins, for superintendent of public instruction, were at this point the leading candidates for the committee endorsements.

Cook County members at the meeting did not vote on the question of an open or closed primary, but later asked to be recorded with the majority of downstaters who asked for a closed primary.

Daley Urges Open Primary

Only two downstate committee members, John R. Asher of Paris and Fred Cain of Jacksonville, supported an open primary in which the party organization would not endorse candidates, leaving the way clear for a wide open race.

Only recently at another party meeting here, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley had urged an open primary in April. Daley frequently has been criticized by downstaters in the past for "closing" the primary and dictating the choice of candidates.

State Committee Chairman James E. Ronan, Chicago, said the group would meet here again Tuesday to interview prospective candidates for the two statewide offices and make its endorsements.

Ronan said the Democrats also planned a strong drive to unseat U. S. Rep. Charles W. Vorse, Salem Republican, in the 24th congressional district; and to gain two seats, instead of the one they normally get, in the 47th, 49th, 39th and 58th districts for the Illinois House of Representatives.

The 39th district includes Mercer and Rock Island counties; the 47th is Logan, Macon and Menard counties; the 49th is Adams, Calhoun, Greene, Morgan Pike and Scott counties; and the 58th is Alexander, Jackson, Monroe, Pulaski, Randolph and Union counties.

Ronan said Democrats interested in running for the nomination to oppose Vorse included Mayor Virgil Bailey of Mount Vernon; Albert Imle of Hillsboro; George Ripley, Richland County sheriff; L. C. Combes of Greenville; Ernest Robinson of Ina; and Roy E. Yung, former agriculture director under Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

By Robert Martin

XXVI
When I returned to the lobby, the clerk told me I had had a telephone call. It was from Sandra. I went to my room and called her back.
I said, "This is Mr. Bennett. I'm sorry I wasn't in when you called. I'd like to talk to you for a few minutes."
"What about?" Her voice was still husky, but suspicious now.
"I'd rather see you personally. Could we meet somewhere?"
She didn't speak for a moment. Then she said coldly, "I'm afraid not, Mr. Bennett. Wayne and my brother are gone and I have some packing to do. Wayne and I are leaving for Detroit in the morning. Besides, I can think of nothing that you would have to say that could be of any possible interest to me."

"Are you sure—Mrs. Calvin?"
That got her. It really got her. I was certain I heard her gasp, and the line went dead for maybe half a minute. Then she said uncertainly, "Perhaps—perhaps I was mistaken. Maybe we should have a—little talk."

"Good," I said sincerely. "Where shall I meet you?"

"You can come out here to the cottage. My brother has gone across the lake and won't be back until tomorrow. Wayne is away somewhere, probably in town. He mentioned that he had to get the car serviced for the trip tomorrow, and that he wanted to go to the library."

"That sounds very nice," I said, "but really I'd rather see you somewhere else. Wayne might return and . . . I let my voice trail off."

"Perhaps you're right," she said smoothly. "Listen, my brother's car is here. I'll meet you at the Bay Shore Inn, on the Sandusky Road. Do you know where that is?"

"I'll find it."

I guessed that the Bay Shore Inn was maybe a 20-minute drive from Lakeport, so I took my time. I put on dry socks, but there was nothing I could do about my shoes and trousers. The shoes might dry by morning and my light cord suit was already so badly wrinkled that it didn't matter. I brushed my teeth, combed my hair, and decided that my shirt was still acceptable. Then I sat by the phone and called the Lakeport police station.

Chief Campbell's dry, precise voice answered.
"Chief, this is Bennett. Starting the night shift again?"

I heard him sigh. "Yes, but for the last time, I hope. Richard, my other officer, is better and expects to return to duty tomorrow."

"Good. I know it's been tough on you. Is our mutual friend, Mr. Howell, all tucked in for the night?"

"Yes," he said grimly. "Gus told me of your help. I appreciate it. That man can't leave town soon enough for me."

"It won't be long now. Did Gus tell you about my report from our Detroit office on Howell and Ambrose Lott?"

"He did. Your information checks pretty well with what the Detroit police gave us. Lott has a sister in Muskegon. Word just came in this evening. We're to send the body there. By the way, Dr. Soura has officially declared Lott dead from a wound inflicted by an ice pick by a person or persons unknown."

"So you did an autopsy, after all?"

"Yes. I thought it advisable, for the record. In my opinion the killer is a stranger, and far away by now."

"Chief," I said, "don't be too sure about that. Listen . . ." I told him about the bullet which had almost hit Howell as we sat fishing that afternoon.

When I'd finished, Campbell said, "It was probably a stray bullet, maybe fired by a kid with a rifle."

"All right, skip it. Lott's killing is your worry. I want to see Howell in the morning," I said. "What are your plans for him?"

"I should give him 30 days," he said grimly, "but if he's leaving town, maybe I'll release him—in your custody."

I put on my hat and went down to the street, aware of the weight of the gun in my inside coat pocket. I saw Wayne Howell coming out of a drugstore.

I went up to him. "In town all alone?"

He nodded. "We're leaving for Detroit tomorrow and Sandra needed some things from the drugstore." He shifted some books under his arm. "And I've got to return these books to the library."

"Honey Campbell has been trying to reach you."

His eyes widened a little. "She has? Why?"

"She wants to return your binoculars."

"Oh," he said. I wasn't certain, but I thought his voice sounded disappointed. "She can keep them."

He stared at me for a moment before he said gravely, "That can't be true. I never thought—"

"It's true," I said. "How do you feel about her?"

His gaze wavered and he hugged the books. "I—like her," he said in a low voice. Then he looked at me directly. "I'm married to Sandra."

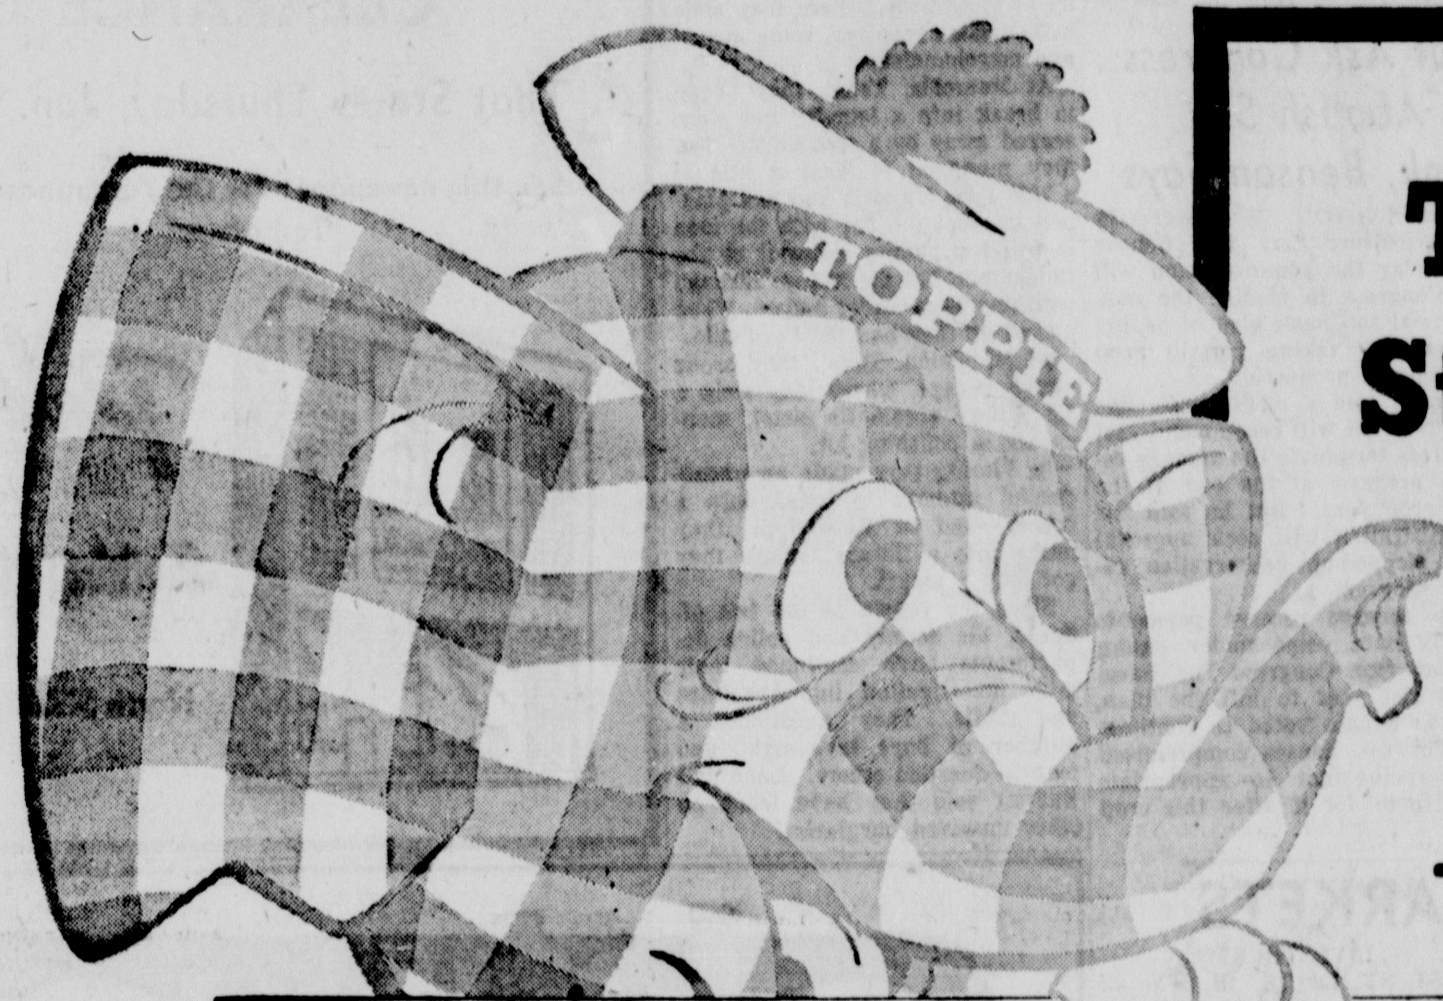

I let him have it. There was no way to ease into it. "Your marriage to Sandra is not legal. She's already married to a man named Duke Calvin."

He cracked thin, and his eyes grew suddenly wild. He stared at me, his mouth working. And then he turned abruptly and walked swiftly away.

U. S. Turns Thumbs Down On Meeting or Pact With Russia

Says East-West Disputes Must Be Settled First

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has turned thumbs down on either a "summit" meeting or non-aggression pact with Russia unless specific East-West disputes are settled first, authoritative sources said today.

Officials belittled Russia's announcement of a 300,000-man cut in Soviet armed forces, and indicated this country will not accept Moscow's challenge to match it.

They said Russia, if the cuts are real, is trimming its military manpower because of increasing destructive power in modern weapons without losing any of its striking potential. They said this country is doing the same thing, and pointed to U. S. military cuts of about 900,000 men since the Korean War.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, in a letter to President Eisenhower last month, called for a chiefs-of-state conference, a non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the Communist Warsaw Pact, a nuclear-free zone in

Dixie Flier Hits Caboose; Three Slightly Injured

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad's crack "Dixie Flier" passenger train smashed head-on into a caboose being pushed by a switch engine east of here today and three men were injured slightly.

The "Dixie Flier" was bound for Chicago from Jacksonville, Fla.

Ed Glass, 72, Evansville, Ind., engineer on the passenger train, was slightly hurt in the collision.

Bill Bouchard and Ralph Stiegman, both of Danville, crewmen on the freight train, leaped from the caboose before the collision and were scratched and bruised when they hit the ground.

The caboose was demolished, but none of the cars on either train was derailed.

central Europe and an immediate halt to nuclear testing.

The President's reply was reviewed by the top-level national security council yesterday and will be coordinated with this country's NATO partners at a Paris meeting tomorrow before being sent to Moscow.

It was understood the draft of the Eisenhower reply to Bulganin was the version prepared by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, rather than that of presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen. Stassen is understood to feel the nation should follow a more flexible disarmament policy toward Russia.

Eisenhower to Definitely Speak at Fund-Raising Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower definitely will speak at a Republican fund-raising dinner in Chicago on the night of Jan. 20, the White House announced today.

The White House last week had expressed some doubt that he would be able to fulfill his commitment in Chicago because of a heavy work schedule.

Today, however, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would fly to Chicago in the late afternoon of Jan. 20 and speak to the Republican dinner in the International Amphitheatre where he won the 1952 GOP presidential nomination.

Hagerty said the President would speak for about 10 or 15 minutes, then spend the night at the Stockyards Inn, a small hotel adjoining the amphitheatre.

John Zeigler Moved From Hospital to Home Of Uncle in Kirksville

John Zeigler, injured in a Missouri auto crash early in December, was moved from the Kirksville hospital to the home of his uncle, Donald Vaughn, in Kirksville over the week-end. His father said it is hoped he can be brought home in about two weeks.

Congress Convenes; To Face Space Issues

duced. Three new House members took their seats.

But Congress was marking time until Thursday to hear what the President proposes in his State of the Union message.

Again the nation was confronted with government controlled on the executive side by Republicans and on the congressional side by Democrats.

Knowland said that in this context "we should put the interests of the country above narrow partisan interests." He hoped the basic issues would not be subject to "carping criticism."

Speaking for Senate Democrats, Johnson said the new session of Congress faces many grave issues besides the battle for space supremacy.

"However urgent these military problems may be we are faced with the unchanging problem of building a strong country, not a strong military force alone," Johnson said.

Johnson said Congress "cannot ignore" the problems of the unemployed, the farmers, school children, or the problems of housing, credit, small business and conservation of natural resources.

"We cannot ignore the soft spots in our economy which are bringing some of our most vital industries into a difficult and troublesome climate," he added.

Johnson said, however, that "if, out in space, there is the ultimate position—from which total control of the earth may be exercised — then our national goal and the goal of all free men must be to win and hold that position."

A Controversial Session This is a congressional election year, and there appeared little doubt that President Eisenhower's leadership would be subjected to heavy strains on Capitol Hill.

Just before he gavelled the House into session, Speaker Sam Rayburn forecast a long controversial session of Congress, with defense appropriations up and no big economies in sight to offset them.

After the White House conference Knowland indicated belief the President is physically in good shape to meet his 1958 leadership burdens.

"Frankly," Knowland told reporters, "I have never seen the President looking better than he did today."

Two Guardsmen Brave Cold for Polio March

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Two National Guardsmen braved some of the coldest weather of the winter as they set out today on the second leg of the 102-mile march to raise funds for the March of Dimes.

Jerry Plasters, 20, and Tom Peavler, 17, West Frankfort, left Carbondale this morning en route for Carterville and, Marion with the mercury at 16 degrees and snow flurries falling.

A jeep they were using in the split time march was abandoned at Carbondale after its heater broke down. A National Guard car was substituted.

The marchers also radioed for overcoats.

Plasters said he was disappointed at the response thus far. No total was available on the collections.

The guardsmen will go from Marion to Johnston City to Herrin Wednesday.

Second Cold Wave of Year Hits Midwest

By United Press

The second sub-zero cold wave of the new year surged into the Midwest and the outer fringe of the cold air pushed as far south as flood and snow battered Texas.

Weathermen said the colder air was expected to overspread most of the eastern half of the nation by tonight.

The cold front brought clearing skies to Texas, enabling hundreds of families to return to their homes as floodwaters in the southern portion of the state receded.

The floods, stemming from a two-day rainfall that dumped up to eight inches of water on the Corpus Christi area, forced more than 1,500 persons from their homes Sunday and Monday.

Most of the persons who fled their homes at Robstown and Edinburg, Tex., were able to return by early today. Flood damage at Corpus Christi and Edinburg was estimated at $250,000.

Kansas has 48,611,366 acres of farmland.

High Cost of Welfare State Causes Cabinet Crisis in Britain

LONDON (AP)—A sudden dispute over the high price of welfare state socialism plunged Britain today into its worst cabinet crisis since Suez.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft and two of his aides resigned shortly before midnight in protest against government failure to hold welfare state spending in line.

Despite the crisis, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was leaving on a long-planned tour of the Commonwealth nations — a 38-day trip to the Far East and Australia to restore British solidarity.

Macmillan was remaining in active command by radio but he put the cabinet under the interim leadership of Home Secretary R. A. (Rab) Butler, the man many had expected to succeed Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister.

Before leaving on his 30,000-mile trip Macmillan got the Queen's immediate approval for installing a new treasury chief, Derick Heathcoat-Amory, present minister of agriculture.

The shakeup promoted Captain Christopher Soames, son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill, from a junior post at the Admiralty to secretary of state for war.

Soames succeeds War Secretary John Hare who replaces Heathcoat-Amory in agriculture.

Thorneycroft resigned because the Conservative cabinet outvoted his proposal to hold the line on

Will Ask Congress To Abolish Soil Bank, Benson Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said today the administration will ask Congress to abolish the controversial soil bank plan of paying farmers for taking certain crop land out of production.

Benson told a news conference the President will recommend that Congress terminate the acreage reserve program at the end of the 1958 crop year. But he said the administration will seek approval of a stepped-up conservation reserve program.

The acreage reserve payments already have come under strong criticism from Congress. The House voted last year to kill the plan, but the Senate voted to continue it. The two houses compromised by agreeing not to appropriate more funds for it after this crop year.

F. Harold Van Orman, Hotel Man, Dies

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—F. Harold Van Orman, 73, former Indiana lieutenant governor and prominent hotel man, died Monday of a heart attack. The 73-year-old Van Orman died in Boehne Tuberculosis Hospital here where he was under treatment for a lung ailment. He was a former president of both the National Hotelmen's Assn. and the American Hotel Assn.

Ike Gets Rare Dogs

KATHMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Animal handlers prepared today to ship two rare Tibetan dogs to President Eisenhower as a gift of the Nepalese government. The dogs, Sharpa Mastiffs, came from across the Himalayas and were reported to be the first shipped to the United States.

Corals, like sea anemones, are animals — a fact that was unknown until the 18th century.

Sen. Talmadge Calls for Drastic Farm Legislation

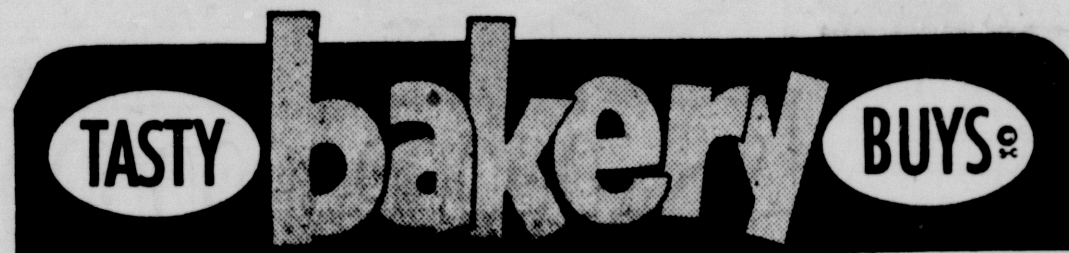

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Herman E. Talmadge said today agriculture is in the "worst shape" it has been since 1937 depression days. He called for "drastic action" to aid small farmers.

The Georgia Democrat promised to seek a "major overhaul" of farm programs. He and other lawmakers stepped up appeals for restoration of the bipartisan farm bloc to prevent what otherwise could be a "stalemate" on farm legislation this year.

The administration also was taking note of the unrest in and out of Congress concerning the farm situation. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said Monday night President Eisenhower may send a special message to Congress on agriculture.

Michigan Stuns Wisconsin, 70-49; Iowa Beats Illinois, Purdue Edges Indiana

CHICAGO — The Big Ten basketball race gave promise today of turning into the mad scramble that characterized last year's campaign.

Two of the three teams picked to battle it out for the 1958 prize already have been beaten within the season less than a week old. They are Indiana and Michigan State.

Only the Ohio State Buckeyes, by virtue of their Saturday night surprise win over Michigan State, remained unbeaten among the three.

Michigan led the pack as the race opened the second round with two victories in two starts. The Wolverines exploded from the short end of a 31-30 halftime score to stun Wisconsin, 70-49, Monday night.

In other games, Iowa beat Illinois, 70-68, on Tom Payne's basket in the last 90 seconds, and Purdue edged Indiana, 68-66, in similar fashion when forward Bob Fehrman netted the ball with three seconds remaining.

The results left the four contenders with 1-1 records.

Minnesota, which took a night off from conference play after beating Purdue Saturday, suffered a 72-71 loss at the hands of Kansas State. That gave the K-Staters four triumphs over Big Ten fives in as many starts.

Archie Dees, Indiana's towering center, gave indications of seriously defending his Big Ten scoring crown. Dees, who was held to 14 points in his first conference game Saturday, was good for 38 Monday night in a losing cause. The performance moved him into No. 2 spot among conference marksmen.

Fehrman, a junior Boilermaker forward, got only 7 points but he was the hero of the contest, making his first shot at the basket count with three seconds left in the game. It was a tip-in of Bill Greve's looper.

Payne, a senior center handed Iowa its first league victory when he scooped up a bobbie by Governor Vaughn, Illinois sophomore, under the backboard and bagged the ball in the final 90 seconds to give the Hawkeyes a 70-66 lead. Dor Ohl scored for the Illinis in the last 15 seconds, but his one basket was not enough.

Four Michigan players scored in double figures in handing the Badgers their second straight conference setback. Center Pete Tillotson was top man with 23 points. M. C. Burton had 17, George Lee 12 and Jack Lewis 10.

The Gophers connected on 42 per cent of their shots from the floor to 32 per cent for Kansas State, but the Staters took 84 shots to only 66 for the Gophers. Ron Johnson led Minnesota scorers with 28 points; to Bob Boozer's 27 for the winners.

Church Bees
CLAWSON, Mich. — (UP)—Rev. Walter Ratcliffe, pastor of the Clawson Methodist Church, was willing to live and let live when a swarm of honey bees invaded the church steeple two years ago, but he objected as they multiplied, began to invade the vestibule and even the church, finally upset a wedding party. He hopes to collect enough rent in honey to pay for having the bees evicted.

Willie Mays Signs $65,000 Plus Contract

SAN FRANCISCO — Willie Mays, the "say hey" kid who has patrolled centerfield for the Giants off and on for six years, was the third highest paid player in baseball today on the strength of his "65,000 plus" 1958 contract.

The former Alabama field hand showed all the polish of a veteran sports personality Monday as he posed with his boss, Giants owner Horace Stoneham, at a much ballooned contract signing ceremony.

"Man, you can say I like this contract," the National League batting star told sportswriters. "I only hope Mr. Stoneham gets his money's worth."

The beaming Stoneham, who appeared to be enchanted with the idea of laying out more money for any National League player other than Stan Musial of the Cardinals, said "we got a bargain."

Stoneham agreed Mays, who batted 333 last season and hit 35 homers, was getting "a substantial increase in salary." But, true to the fashion in the baseball business, he wouldn't be pinned down to specifics on salary terms.

"You can say Willie will be getting more than we have ever paid a player," he said. "A safe guess would be in excess of $65,000."

Some sports writers are saying flatly the 26-year-old long ball hitting Giant is getting $70,000. Whether or not the figure reaches that, Mays is still only behind Musial and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox when it comes to atmospheric salaries.

The St. Louis Cardinals, meanwhile, signed pitcher William (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and the Pittsburgh Pirates came to terms with pitcher Vernon Law. Both are rated key players in next season's plans.

Mizell, a left-handed speedballer, had an 8-10 record last season but is called "the key to our 1958 season" by Manager Fred Hutchinson. The 6-3, 200-pounder admitted, "I didn't have much to argue about" our terms but said he was aiming at "that magic 20 victories" this year.

A lot of basketball was played the past weekend but several schools in the area will get back in action for the first time this week since the holidays.

There has been no Greater Egyptian conference action since Dec. 20, but six games are listed for this week, three each on Tuesday and Friday nights.

Harrisburg's last game was during the final session of the Egyptian holiday tourney Dec. 28, but the Bull Dogs will jump into South Seven play this weekend, travelling to Benton Friday and hosting Mt. Vernon Saturday.

Carrier Mills has been idle since taking the title in its holiday tourney Dec. 27, but plays two at home this week, hosting Norris City Tuesday and Galatia Saturday.

This week's schedule includes two-thirds of Carrier Mills' regular schedule for the month, as only one other game—at Sesser on the 17th—is listed for the month of January. The Wildcats will play two other games in the Saline County Tournament, Jan. 24-25.

Eldorado, with games Friday and Saturday of last week, plays host to Johnston City Jan. 10, then is idle until the county tourney.

January is semester month and does strange things to basketball schedules.

Remember Larry Hiller, the high-scoring fullback on the Zeigler football team. He finished just back of Eldorado's Lester Feunay in the race for Illinois high school scoring honors.

Hiller is doing alright in basketball too. Only recently he scored 26 points in leading Zeigler to a victory over Hurst-Bush.

Mike McCombs, Carmi's fine pivot man, is moving close to career total of 1,000 points.

During the first three years on the Carmi high school varsity McCombs scored a total of 774 points and is in a position to hit the charmed 1,000 circle during the four-team tourney to be staged at Carmi next week.

The title "the first state of the Union" was won by Delaware because when the Constitution was first submitted to the original 13 states, many hesitated and argued over it. However, Delaware ratified it at once on Dec. 7, 1787, unanimously. The state of Delaware, the nation's second smallest, consists of only 2,057 square miles—about 100 miles long and from 10 to 35 miles wide.

Packers Fire Blackbourn; Name McLean

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers' board of directors Monday night voted to fire head coach Lisle Blackbourn and to replace him with backfield coach Ray (Scooter) McLean on a one-year contract.

Blackbourn had one year remaining on a five-year pact, calling for $25,000 per year. The board said it would pay Blackbourn full amount for next season.

The board action came after unanimous recommendation of the executive committee which met Monday noon. The ouster of Blackbourn and McLean's promotion were both recommended to the executive committee by its three-man contract committee.

A board statement said "it was to the best interests of the Packers that a change be made." It was "advisable to hire McLean instead of a coach from the college ranks because McLean had seven years with the Packers as backfield coach, the board said.

Salary terms of McLean's contract were not disclosed, but board spokesmen said he was given free choice in selection of his assistants. McLean said he was "very satisfied" with the one year agreement because it was "a real challenge. I know I can do the job," he said. "If I don't... the board of directors is free to find somebody else."

McLean said he would sign the contract "in the near future."

Stranahan Wins Los Angeles Open Tournament

LOS ANGELES — Muscular Frank Stranahan, who already has more money than most people have troubles, heads for the $50,000 Bing Crosby tournament at Pebble Beach today — convinced that weight lifting is the key to golfing success.

Stranahan, heir to sparkplug millions in Toledo, got off on the right foot for 1958 Monday when he captured the $7,000 first prize in the $40,000 Los Angeles Open. He had a 72-hole total of 275 — nine under par for the distance.

The handsome shotmaker, who had not won a tournament since capturing the $15,000 Eastern Open at Baltimore in 1955, was elated with his victory.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison won $3,750 for second place and young Gay Brewer, of Cincinnati, the third-round leader, finished third with a 279. His finish was good for $2,600. Bill Casper, one of the country's top money winners last season, came in 4th with a 280 and collected $2,200.

Egyptian Holiday Cage Tourney Financial Success, Report Shows

The Egyptian Holiday basketball tournament held Dec. 26-28 at Daventry gym was a financial success as well as an interesting meet, HTHS Principal Eltis Henson reported today.

Gross receipts for the four sessions were $3,000.45, with each of the eight participating teams receiving shares running from $141.16 to $310.66.

Each team except Harrisburg was given mileage for coming here and all were given money for meals and lodging as long as the team remained in the tournament.

McLeansboro bowed out in the first round and winner Mt. Vernon, second place West Frankfort, third place Carbondale and fourth place Harrisburg participated on all three days of the tournament.

Cost of officials, faculty and janitor help, three nice trophies, light, heat, water and towels, advertising and $1,064.50 for team expenses brought total expense to $2,041.35, which left a net $859.10.

Harrisburg received $300 for conducting the tournament and this left a bonus of $659.10, which gave $94.16 to all of the seven other clubs besides their expenses.

Thus each of the seven other teams received the following for participating: Carbondale $303.16, Du Quoin $165.66, Eldorado $141.16, Eldorado, Du Quoin, McLeansboro and Murphysboro bowed out in the first round and winner Mt. Vernon, second place West Frankfort, third place Carbondale and fourth place Harrisburg participated on all three days of the tournament.

PIERCE COMPETITORS—Looking like national symbols come alive, Fairtrough Penny, right, and her son, Fairtrough Louis, appeared determined to sweep honors in the National Bulldog Show in London. GOP Opens Drive To Blame Truman WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressmen today opened a campaign to heap on the Truman administration the blame for America's lag in the missile race with Russia.

Publicly, they cautiously predicted the campaign will succeed. But in private some GOP leaders acknowledged that the post-Sputnik political tide is running so strongly against them they have all but given up hope of electing a Republican Congress in November.

The official party line—that the old Truman administration is to blame—was spelled out by Republican House Whip Leslie C. Arends (Ill.) in a 15-page memorandum.

The memo, sent to all 200 House Republicans, said America's "long range rocketry is in some respects matched or surpassed by the Soviets" and added:

"That result was fore-ordained by years of low-priority attention and lack of funds during the Truman administration while the Soviets evidently were advancing their rocketry full blast."

Peace In Harrisburg

We may have peace in Harrisburg—in our day!

There is no excuse for elected city officials getting along like a bunch of kids fighting at the dinner table.

Harrisburg is a grownup town and Harrisburg does all right, too. We have a good town—good to live in—worth scrapping for.

It takes courage to stand up and say this, but I am the one who has been called upon in the past to undertake some of the difficult tasks for Harrisburg, and, I say here and now, that we, as a city, are in a messy situation, and I am willing to do my part to straighten it out.

For years, our city government has been the battleground for petty local wars—fought over personal jealousy and envy.

That's not what we're paying for! You are entitled to sensible, sane, cautious procedure in the City Hall.

I have gone to Springfield on several occasions and obtained assistance and information needed locally that no one else would dare ask for.

I can prove by the words of lots of people that I have obtained jobs for many Harrisburg men.

If you want someone with courage to face the situation and bring back again good work and cooperation, vote for me!

If you should elect me councilman, I'll guarantee that you get the straight of everything that comes up in the city hall.

Churches' Balance Sheet Shows Impressive Growth

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press Staff Correspondent

If churches drew up a year-end balance sheet on religion in America, they could report impressive growth in assets during 1957.

Records were set in virtually every field of religious activity that is subject to statistical measurement.

But the statement of condition would also show formidable liabilities. There are still many areas of U. S. life in which church leaders find it difficult to detect any evidence of a genuine religious revival.

On the credit side of the statements would be such facts as these:

Church membership soared past the 100 million mark and continued to grow at a rate of 3 per cent a year—nearly double the rate of population increase. . . Sunday School enrollment hit an all-time high of more than 40 million.

Building Boom
Spending on church construction climbed to $70-million dollars, an increase of 95-million dollars over 1956 . . . more than 3,000 new congregations came into being.

Contributions to religious bodies totalled about $3,500,000,000, an increase of nearly 7 per cent over last year. . . the number of missionaries in foreign service rose to 22,680—twice as many as U. S. churches sent abroad twenty years ago. . . the Bible dwarfed all other best-sellers, with estimated sales of 8-million copies.

On the debit side, church leaders might record another array of statistics which are hard to square with the picture of a nation on its knees:

Americans spent three times as much on alcoholic beverages as they gave to their churches. . . the number of alcoholics, like the number of church members, reached an all-time high of 5-million.

Narcotics addiction, the national divorce rate, the highway death toll and juvenile delinquency arrests rose to record levels along with Sunday School enrollment.

Facts are Baffling
Pornographic literature flooded the country. . . and a scandal sheet racked up the largest newstand sales of any magazine.

At first glance, the balance sheet may seem completely baffling. On one side is clear evidence of a strong and growing public interest in religion. On the other, the symptoms of a sick and immoral society.

Many clergymen believe this paradox simply demonstrates that Americans are responding in two radically different ways to the experience of living in an era when the shadow of the H-bomb and the intercontinental missile hangs over every tomorrow.

Some people are turning to religion to find a meaning for life which transcends the anxieties of an uncertain earthly existence. Others are seeking escape from the same anxieties in the age-old philosophy of "eat, drink and be merry."

Fall Fatal to GI

HAMELIN, Germany (AP)—An American soldier was killed Saturday night when he mistakenly opened an outside door of a moving passenger train and stepped out, police reported Sunday night. They said Pvt. Harry Cleveland (home address unavailable), attached to a U. S. engineer battalion near Frankfurt, on his first leave in Europe apparently mistook the outside door for the door to the men's room.

PAINFUL SUCCESS—During his 30 years as a character actor, Ward Bond hadn't a care in the world, made a good living and enjoyed good health. Now, after seven months as a television star (NBC-TV's "Wagon Train"), he has acquired an ulcer. But that's considered a badge of success in Hollywood. So he's being congratulated by his friend who declares they "always knew he had it in him."

Persons interested in obtaining employment in these positions should contact Kenneth Pate, Personnel Officer, at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion.
